A show cause Notice was served to him to explain his habitual absenteeism. The reply of the complainant was found to be unsatisfactory. However, in view of impending retirement of the complainant teacher, the competent authority had taken lenient view and imposed minor penalty of recovering one month's salary. Since the complainant teacher retired during that period upon reaching superannuation on 18.03.2025, therefore, the competent authority ordered the recovery of the penalized amount from his commutation.

The complainant had the option to appeal to the Secretary (Education) but he did not avail the remedy.

FINDINGS:

6. The Departmental Inquiry found him the complainant teacher guilty of misconduct for absenteeism and not-registering with the biometric system just to avoid accountability. The complainant was slapped with minor penalty of recovering of one month salary from his settlement dues merely in view of looming retirement. The complainant had the option to appeal well in time, which he didn't prefer for the reason best known to him.

7. Having admitted guilt for not-registering himself in biometric attendance system, the complainant sought permission to withdraw the complaint, a request that was allowed.
